FRIENDS WANT HIM TO RUN FOR CARNEGIE HERO MEDAL.

District Detective Gare will be recommended by the men in his district for a Carnegie hero medal. Yesterday morning he stopped a runaway horse on Rowan street, below Nineteenth street, just before the horse collided with a buggy in which were two women. Yesterday afternoon Stationkeeper O'Neill, of the Fourth district, said that a medal should be given Gare, and that he (O'Neill) was willing to recommend the detective to the commission. He said:

"Why, Gare was dragged a half-block. He saw the horse coming, ran out and grabbed the bridle and was dragged past the middle of the block before the horse stopped. When the horse did stop it was just in front of a buggy in which were two women, who were scared almost to death. Pretty soon the driver of the runaway horse came up and Gare told him to take the horse and keep the charge."

Internal Revenue Collections.

The total collections in the office of J. A. Craft, Internal Revenue collector, for the month up to closing time yesterday were $1,055,174.11, which is an increase of $2,585.55 over the collections for the same month of May, 1906. The collections yesterday were as follows: Beer, $2,500; whiskey, $4,500; cigars, $4,500; tobacco, $13,672.82; special tax stamps, $4,147; total, $41,502.55.

CONVICTS FIGHT.

One Nearly Killed In Frankfort Penitentiary.

BROOMHANDLE AND SHOE KNIFE USED AS WEAPONS.

HOME MISSION CONFERENCE ENDS AT RICHMOND.

LONDON NEXT MEETING PLACE

Frankfort, Ky., May 24.—[Special.]—At the State penitentiary this afternoon, B. W. Lockmiller, a convict, cut and, it is feared, mortally wounded John Hensley, a fellow-inmate. Lockmiller, who has but one arm, the left, made five wounds on the head and body of his victim, narrowly missing the jugular vein in one slash, with a shoe knife, and making another wound in the abdomen, in which it was necessary to take sixteen stitches.

Lockmiller was sent up from Mercer county in May, 1905, for four years for housebreaking. He is a Tennesseean. His victim was sent up from Breathitt county in March, 1905, to serve twelve years upon conviction of murder. The men were employed in the shoe plant of the prison, and they quarreled over some trivial matter. Hensley is said to have struck Lockmiller with a broom handle before he drew his knife and wounded him. Hensley would have likely been killed instantly but for the interference of guards of the institution.

LONDON GETS NEXT MEETING.

Officers Elected By Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Richmond, Ky., May 24.—[Special.]—The Home Mission Conference of the Methodist Church, which has been in annual meeting here for three days, closed to-night. The meeting, which was the seventeenth annual one, was the best in the history of the society. Miss Bell L. H. Bennett, of this city, president of the Executive Board of the society, spoke to a packed house to-night on "Work of the Woman's Home Missionary Society." The result of the election held this afternoon was as follows: President, Miss Mary Ora Durbin, of Danville; first vice president, Mrs. Claud Paxton, Mt. Sterling; second vice president, Mrs. Massie Bunsal, of Louisville; third vice president, Miss Fannie Collins, of Chattanooga; conference corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. J. Dickey, of Simpsonville; recording secretary, Miss Louise Best, of Maysville; London was selected as the next annual meeting place.

DEATH COMES AT AGE OF 108.

Wm. Coburn, Oldest Man In Western Kentucky, Passes Away.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 24.—William Coburn, the oldest man in Western Kentucky, died last evening at his home, near this city. He was born in the Cheviot Hills of Scotland February 9, 1799, and at the age of thirty-three years came to America. He was a Confederate veteran. At the close of the war he was located in Christian county. He had been blind for six months. About a month ago he fell and one high was badly injured. One remarkable circumstance following his injuries was that the shock to his system in a measure restored his eyesight. He is survived by one child, Mrs. Thomas Clark.

THIRTEEN-YEAR SENTENCE.

Abe Lake Convicted of Assault On Sister-In-Law.

Harrodsburg, Ky., May 24.—The jury in the case of the Commonwealth against Abe Lake, charged with assault on his sister-in-law, Mrs. Steve Chambers, returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty and fixing his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for thirteen years. This was the second trial of the case, the first ending in a mistrial, resulting in a hung jury. The offense was committed in this county about one year ago. A short time afterward Mrs. Chambers committed suicide.

WILL HOLD RALLY ON JULY 4.

Growers of Washington County Have Big Pool.

Springfield, Ky., May 24.—[Special.]—Tobacco growers of Washington county will hold a rally July 4. This was determined this afternoon at a meeting of the A. S. of E. Another meeting will be held Saturday, June 8, at which time arrangements will be made. A total of 2,500 acres of the 1907 crop has already been pooled. The $18,000 warehouse will be completed in about forty days.

GRADED SCHOOL TOURNAMENT.

Bluegrass Athletic and Oratorical Contest Next Week.

Springfield, Ky., May 24.—[Special.]—The Bluegrass Graded School Tournament will meet in Springfield, May 29, 30 and 31. There will be fifty contests, with eight schools represented. There are 175 entries and ninety medals will be awarded. Two games of baseball will be played each day for the school championship of the State and two nights of oratory are on the programme.

Measles Causes Death.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., May 24.—[Special.]—Elmer Crandall, one of the best-known young men of the western part of the county, died at his home near Johnsonville early to-day of measles.

RETAINS COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE FRANCHISES.

Before his term of office expired, Fred Levy, former president of the Commercial Club, appointed Judge James P. Gregory, Caldwell Norton and S. D. Smith as members of a special committee to investigate the validity of the franchises under which the Louisville Street Railway Company is operating. A resolution calling for such an investigation and the appointment of such a committee was passed at the last regular meeting of the old Board of Directors and the committee was continued by the new board.

Judge Gregory, chairman of the committee, said yesterday that a meeting of the committee will probably be held some time next week to determine upon the manner of the investigation, and that while the opinion of Judge A. B. Richards, City Attorney, sustaining the validity of the franchises, would receive careful consideration it would not deter the committee from making its own investigation.

ANOTHER KENTUCKIAN FOR GOVERNOR OF MISSOURI

HON. EDGAR M. HARBER.

St. Louis, May 24.—It is already certain that 1908 will witness in Missouri one of the hottest campaigns in its history. The Democrats, fully appreciating that they must have a man who can unite the Democratic hosts, are carefully looking about. Several names have been mentioned as available timber for gubernatorial honors, but most of them seem to be centering upon Col. E. M. Harber, on account of his ability as a campaigner and his freedom from any charge of factionalism.

The Hon. Edgar M. Harber was born in Madison county, Kentucky, as were also Gov. David R. Francis, Senator William J. Stone and Judge E. J. Brudus. Like all Kentuckians, he was born with a little no less than a Colonel. He has for many years been recognized as one of the leading lawyers of this State, and has always been a fighting Democrat, taking an active interest for friends and his party and never asking consideration for himself. He has been a delegate to every State convention in Missouri since 1876, chairman of the convention that nominated Judge E. J. Brudus (presiding), Judge of the Kansas City Court of Appeals, also chairman of the convention which nominated Judge A. M. Woodson for Supreme Judge of Missouri in 1904, and chairman as well of the convention which nominated Judges Woodson and Graves for the Supreme bench in 1906. He was delegate to the national convention which nominated Mr. Cleveland in 1884 and elector in 1889. In 1892 he was special messenger from Missouri to deliver the electoral vote of Missouri.

Mr. Harber was for many years City Counselor of the city of Trenton, was Prosecuting Attorney of his (Grand) county from 1884-86, being elected by a majority of 1,025, the normal Republican majority being 1,100 or 1,200. He was also Gov. David R. Francis, Senator William J. Stone and Judge E. J. Brudus. Like all Kentuckians, he was born with a little no less than a Colonel. He has for many years been recognized as one of the leading lawyers of this State, and has always been a fighting Democrat, taking an active interest for friends and his party and never asking consideration for himself. He has been a delegate to every State convention in Missouri since 1876, chairman of the convention that nominated Judge E. J. Brudus (presiding), Judge of the Kansas City Court of Appeals, also

BLACK HAND TRIAL ABRUPTLY TERMINATED.

One Defendant Commits Suicide and the Other Pleads Guilty.

New York, May 24.—The trial of the three alleged "Black Hand" men on a charge of murder in the first degree was abruptly terminated in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn to-day. Pocono Pensacola, one of the men, took the case so far as he was concerned, from the earthly tribunal by committing suicide at the Raymond-street jail by hanging.

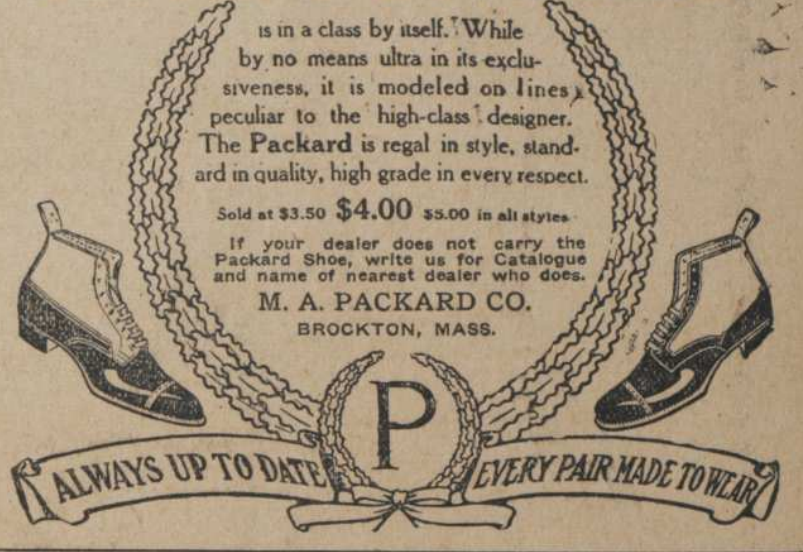

Immediately after the opening of court, Genaro Esposito, another of the trio, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree. Then, upon the recommendation of District Attorney Clark, Francesco Como, who had been on trial jointly with the other two, was discharged.

The three men were charged with having killed Gaetano Costa, a butcher, Costa had received several letters demanding money.

EXPENSIVE KISSES THROWN AT PASSING GIRLS.

Because he threw kisses at women who passed the corner of Third avenue and Jefferson street about 11 o'clock Tuesday night, George Kelly, forty-five years of age and a stranger in Louisville, was fined $5 in Police Court yesterday morning. Patrolman McElroy was the only witness against Kelly, but when he was put on the stand he said merely that he didn't know whether he did it or not, and didn't remember whether he was charged with being drunk and disorderly.

PLATFORM ADOPTED BY THE LAKE MOHONK CONFERENCE

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., May 24.—The recommendations which the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration will send to the conference at The Hague, will contain nothing on disarmament or limitation of armaments. This was determined to-day when the conference declined to accept an amendment to the platform, proposed by Edwin D. Mead, of Boston, which declared that the conference earnestly hopes that limitation of armaments will be freely discussed at The Hague.

The contention of Mr. Mead was supported by spirited speeches by the Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale and Dr. Charles P. Fagnall, of the Union Theological Seminary. The opposition was led by John D. Long, former Secretary of the Navy, and President Eliot, of Harvard University. The platform, as adopted, is in part as follows:

I.—Such changes in The Hague court as may be necessary to establish a definite judicial tribunal always open for the adjustment of international questions.

II.—A general arbitration treaty for the settlement of international disputes.

III.—The establishment of the principle of the inviolability of innocent private property at sea at time of war.

IV.—A declaration to the effect that there should be no armed intervention for the collection of private claims when the debtor nation is willing to submit such claims to arbitration.

We recommend, in accordance with our resolution of last year, the consideration by The Hague Conference of a plan for the neutralization of ocean trade routes.

Interest of the party in the last thirty years than any other man.

He is not only a lawyer of recognized ability and an excellent business man, but one of the foremost farmers of Missouri. He is a breeder of registered Hereford cattle, and his Glenco Farm, to the east of Trenton, is one of the finest in the country.

The newspapers of the State have been booming him for Governor without his solicitation or consent. His friends all over the State are urging him to make the race. He is well known in Kentucky, and his old friends and relatives there will undoubtedly be pleased to hear of the excellent prospects, which at present indicate that he will probably be the 1908 Democratic nominee for Governor of Missouri.

Big Price For Farm.

Danville, Ky., May 24.—Ben McMillin, of Nelson county, has purchased the Worthington farm, of 260 acres, at $100.50 per acre. This is one of the largest sales of land that has ever been made in this county. The farm is one of the best in the Bluegrass region, and has the finest home in Boyle county upon it. It lies five miles from Danville.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1907

"Business."
Friday Evening, May 24.—After an early dip of 1 to 3 points the New York market found more and more regained its early loss.

Money on call was easy at 1 1/2 to 2 per cent, ruling rate 1 1/2. Time funds were quiet and firm at 3 1/2 to 5. Sterling exchange was firm.

The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 4 points, moved within a range of 7 to 15 points and closed 2 to 6 points lower than the opening.

The Chicago cattle market was steady, the hog market 5c to 10c lower and the sheep market strong.

The Manufacturers and the Tariff.
The student of the times should not overlook the action of the National Association of Manufacturers of the United States in declaring in favor of a revision of the tariff at the earliest opportunity.

The declaration was the outcome of a poll of the 3,000 members of the association. The committee which had in charge the poll reported that of the number of members replying 55 per cent. favored immediate revision. The minority was split up as follows: Twenty per cent. expressed a "hands off" sentiment, 8 per cent. believed the time for revision had not arrived and 17 per cent. expressed indifference or made noncommittal answers. Observe the temper of the 55 per cent.; they stood for immediate revision; the convention approved the committee's report and so lined up formally as a body with the champions of revision.

When the most powerful organization of manufacturers in the United States turns against the device invented, ostensibly, to protect American manufacturers from the competition of the tariff at the earliest opportunity.

As a matter of fact, the high tariff is a handicap to the realization of the greatest possibilities of American trade. Of course, it protects the few and enables them to grow powerful through plunder and pelf; naturally, then, some of the manufacturers composing this association voted against revision because they were the direct beneficiaries of the unjust system. The attitude of the majority is the significant point of the affair. The majority of the manufacturers want the Dingley law revised and the duties it imposes reduced. And what is a good thing for the greatest number of people is the thing for law-makers and law administrators to do. The majority of the members of the association of manufacturers want the tariff charged; they know what is best for them; the change should be made. And to these manufacturers should be added the myriads of consumers; they are robbed and oppressed by the monopolies which thrive by the unrighteous operations of the Dingley tariff. In short, the many are made the victims of the few; the masses are made the prey of the privileged minority; the dog is wagged by its tail.

The Republican party offers no assurance of relief. Despite the steadily growing demand for revision which has been discernible on every hand in recent years, that party, although in supreme control of all branches of the nation's government, has stood pat. Some of its members have made a pretense of antagonism to the trusts, and they have made a spectacular show of assailing them, much in the manner of Don Quixote charging the windmills. By lowering the duties which give the combinations their strength the performers could destroy them with one blow. Why do they not adopt this simple and effective weapon? Because the Republican party is organically the party of trusts.

The leopard's spots are a part of the animal's nature; so is the Republican party's alignment with monopoly, capitalist tyranny and greed, an inevitable consequence of its source and being. Its sinews of war come from the beneficiaries of the high tariff.

Speaker Cannon is committed to the stand-pat policy; he is a powerful Republican. Secretary Taft has spoken for tariff revision; he is an influential Republican. President Roosevelt avoids the topic as a child avoids the dark; he, needless to say, is a person of some power in the Republican party. With such a diversity of views in high Republican circles, the Republican party reaps some benefit, for there are gullible persons in the world who see in the situation an evidence of a disposition of the ruling party to do the right thing—maybe. But don't you believe any such rubbish—don't you be deceived by these political shams and decoys. The manufacturers and consumers are both eager for a determined and relentless assault upon the present tariff duties, but to expect such a beneficent deed from the Republican party would be like expecting virtue in Satan.

"Ida."
If ever a star fell from Heaven into the arms of man—if ever a flower grew into a woman—that star and that flower was Ida Saxton McKinley. There was an aroma of sweetness and grace in the very name. Her husband never addressed her, never referred to her, except as "Ida." By an interpolation little short of divine the full knowledge of the supreme tragedy which descended into a life yet in its noon, was spared her; the angels drew a veil as of tears between her and its full realization.

God had given to Ida Saxton to be a duty maid. There were many beauties and virtues in the character of William McKinley; his career was abundantly fulfilled, and the crown of glory he wore with such consuming modesty was studied with jewels both rich and radiant; the soldier, the civilian, the man of affairs and the party leader; but the rarest of all that shone in that priceless gladden was his devotion—simple, constant, unerring—to "Ida."

It seems a strange, a most mysterious, inexplicable decree of Providence that ordained the death by the assassin's hand of three such men as Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley, each so unoffending, so filled with the love of human kind, so gracious and generous.

Of the three, McKinley was least aggressive. Lincoln lived in deadly times, and Garfield's very intellectuality raised up both enemies and enemies. Garfield, lovable as he was, had a rough side to him, and Lincoln, big of heart and of brain, was outwardly, even as a gnarled oak. McKinley lived a primitive Christian life. He emulated St. Paul in the desire to be all things to all men. It gave him pleasure to give pleasure; it caused him pain to inflict pain. No man ever grew as fast as he in the Executive Office, both in mental stature and in breadth.

He came to power during moving times. Immense responsibilities descended upon him. War, which he had religiously opposed, and for which the country was ill-prepared, was suddenly thrust upon him. The White House became an armed camp. There was not an hour of the day, or night, which the President could call his own. But, night or day, there came never a moment when that sweet voice might not summon him to the side of the wife whose peculiar affliction had imposed upon him the care of a nurse for a child—none other nurse than he. It was the knowledge of this in those who personally knew and loved them which gave to the awful finality at Buffalo an added and inexpressible poignancy of grief.

The people of the South especially will ever hold the memory of William McKinley deep in the heart of their hearts. He it was to whom it was given to complete the sublime intention of Lincoln with respect to the reunited sections of the Union. He was quick to see the meaning and the opportunity of the Spanish War. The last, eternal treaty of peace between the North and the South was written by the pen that signed the commissions as Generals in the Army of the United States of Joseph Wheeler and Fitzhugh Lee and John Breckinridge Castleman, and never did statesman and patriot perform an act greater in reach and more benign in effect than did William McKinley when he restored those Confederate soldiers to the service of a once more united country, literally turning gray into blue, and giving to generations of Southern men, yet unborn the sign-manual, along with the deathless assurance, of complete moral emancipation.

Let the winged spirit take its way to the immortal spirit waiting for its mate. Much shortened is the distance to Heaven from Earth between these two. Around the seraphs stand in robes of light. The gates are flung open wide. But, be sure a single voice will alone be heard, just only the one word, "Ida."

Cotton Seed Oil.
The Department of Commerce and Labor sends out a pamphlet of 164 pages to tell of cotton-seed products in foreign countries. These products are principally oil, meal and linters, though the seed itself is also exported, though not in large quantities. France makes a good deal of oil from seeds, but gets its supply of material mainly from Egypt and British India.

The reports given in this pamphlet are in response to inquiries sent out by the State Department at the request of that of Commerce and Labor. Six questions are asked, which seek information as to the extent to which cotton-seed products are used, with what articles they come in competition, whether there is discrimination against them and the like. Oil is the most important product, and much of the response is devoted to that.

The importance of cotton-seed oil may be inferred from the fact that in the calendar year 1906 the United States exported 202,827 gallons, of the value of $13,999,431. The Netherlands were the largest customer for this, taking nearly 13,000,000 gallons, worth about $4,250,000. France was the second best customer, taking nearly 8,000,000 gallons. It is clear enough that an article which is so largely exported is worthy of attention from the Department of Commerce, and that it is worth while to look carefully to the markets in which it can be sold. The answers from the different countries are varied, some reporting a large trade, while in other lands it is insignificant.

The first report in the book is from Consul James E. Dunning at Milan, Italy. He said there were no important imports in his consulate of cotton-seed cake or meal, but that oil was largely imported. The imports for 1904 were 9,417,100 pounds, for 1905 they rose to 26,355,500 and in 1906 dropped back to 9,256,300 pounds. The difference in these years is explained by saying "that 1905 was a short year in the Italian olive orchards." The United States cotton-seed oil supplied practically all the deficiency. Cotton-seed oil is used for two purposes, namely, for diluting olive oil and for sale as an edible substitute for olive oil. Mr. Dunning thinks this cotton-seed oil is mostly consumed in Italy, and that it is not much used in the export trade, and that pure olive oil is shipped to America. This opinion, however, does not conform to previous reports. The Consul at Rome reports that much of the imports are exported, mixed with olive oil, but he thinks they go mainly to South America.

The Consul at Rotterdam, in the Netherlands, says that it is the opinion there that there is more cotton-seed oil imported into that city than into any other port in Europe. For five years the average has been about 10,000,000 gallons annually, worth over $4,000,000. It is used principally for the manufacture of margarine, compound lard and for cooking purposes. The tariff is twenty-two cents per 220 pounds, or one-tenth of a cent a pound. This is in striking contrast with the tariff in Italy, which is nearly two cents a pound, and no doubt is largely the reason why we send more of this oil to the Netherlands than to any other country. In France it pays a duty of six francs per hundred kilos (220 pounds), and in Germany $2.97 for the same amount.

It is believed that the trade in cotton-seed products may be much extended in some of the countries from which reports have been received, especially in oils. The trade in meal is retarded by the fear that it may not prove a wholesome feed for stock, though there is no good ground for this opinion. Cotton-seed oil is known to be an entirely wholesome product, and it is said that when not more than 30 per cent. is added to olive oil, it is very difficult to detect the adulteration. There is, however, a well-founded prejudice against the sale of any product under a false name, and cotton-seed oil is well able to be sold on its own merits. The reason for adulteration is very well shown in the report of Mr. Dunning as to comparative prices in Italy. Olive oil is worth 8-10 cents a pound, while cotton-seed oil is quoted at 4-15 cents. Butter is worth 21 cents and lard 24 1/2. It is obvious that considerable profits are realized by the sale of products of cotton-seed oil for other fats and greases, and this accounts for the prevalence of the practice of adulteration. Meantime the sale of cotton-seed products adds largely to the revenues of the cotton growers, and the extension of foreign markets for these commodities in legitimate ways is very much to their interest.

Salvations and Suicide.
The Salvation Army continues to increase the number of anti-suicide bureaus in the United States, confident that they will exert a powerful influence for the discouragement of the mania and the reduction of the instances of self-murder.

In discussing the results of the work of the bureaus, Miss Booth reports that in three weeks there came to the New York office 300 applicants, and the Salvation Army agents gave them help. Any movement that does the slightest amount of good and relieves ever so little the sufferings of humanity justifies its existence and, therefore, the anti-suicide bureaus are to be commended; but there is no way to prove that even one of the 300 persons who applied to the New York headquarters would have committed suicide had no such source of relief been in existence. It is not logical to assume that every man who says he contemplates killing himself will actually do such a thing, nor is it safe to believe that every one who applies to the Salvation Army with a hard-luck story and threat of suicide is acting in good faith, seeing that there are many frauds operating in the guise of down-trodden and starving mortals; therefore, it is difficult to measure the net achievements of the Salvation Army in its labor to interrupt suicides. Suicide is too frequently a matter of sudden impulse, of overpowering mental disorder or distress and of secret sorrows to permit the belief that an anti-suicide bureau can accomplish very much good as strictly a deterrent of suicide; yet it can hardly be disputed that there is always a chance that it might save a life and reform a career, while it is sure to do incidental work for the welfare and happiness of the race, and if it does these things it does much.

"This wish to die," says Miss Booth, "is only a spell which comes over a man for a time. He has, perhaps, lost relatives, love, hope, home—everything. He needs only sympathy and encouragement to carry him over to the time when his spirit revives. It is the better class of men who predominate, with fine characters and sensitive natures. It is this kind which sense most keenly the cares and woes that life brings. An animal nature is not concerned with these things. Nor do we find that those in need of our help are the old, who are tottering or have fallen into the gutter. Neither are the young and careless. The majority are middle-aged and intelligent, who have been ruined by sin, drink or sorrow. The great aim of the Salvation Army is to extend help and sympathy. That is what they need—that is what the world needs."

In this concluding sentence Miss Booth hits upon a vital truth. The most effective anti-suicide work is that which the individual can do, if he will. If every individual would deal less selfishly with his fellows, bringing into his home greater feeling of affection and gentleness and into his business relations a more pronounced spirit of "live and let live," and so, little by little, destroy the harsh, antagonistic grinding and pinching conditions which to-day beget untold misery and entail paralyzing struggles, there would be fewer suicides. If only each man resolved himself into an anti-suicide bureau in the living of his daily life, what a different old world this would be!

Dated "Boston, Mass., May 24, 1907," the Editor of the Courier-Journal has received among a variety of telegrams bearing more or less on the same subject, the following:

"When will you name the candidate described recently in your paper?"
Signed, "Boston Herald."

To all such inquiries the Editor of the Courier-Journal has returned the general answer, "Just as soon as Mr. Bryan can be definitely found from."

The Presbyterians at Columbus have denounced divorce, but the Pittsburghers still look upon it as the only legitimate outlet from a hateful matrimonial harness to a richly-tinted clitoris.

The New York World is wrong in stating that Albert J. Beveridge is the Constitution itself. Mr. Beveridge is merely the United States Senate, American oratory and cosmic thought.

A New York burglar robbed sixteen flats in one morning. That is the trouble about the cozy little homes a man can touch by the dozen without moving out of his tracks.

Thomas A. Edison says vacations are not necessary, but the luxuries of life rather than the necessities make it worth living.

It seems to be conceded that Theodore Roosevelt will not be the candidate, but will content himself with being the convention.

Kildoe Wins Steeplechase and Breaks Another Record

Barney Schreiber's Aged Gelding Shows the Timbers—Toppers How To Jump At Churchill Downs.

CORRIGAN'S NARAN FINISHES SECOND

Heavy Plunge On La Veta, But She Fails To Show.

MISS ALERT SCORES VICTORY.

E. R. BRADLEY'S BOSOM FRIEND BEATS BIG BUNCH OF TWO-YEAR-OLDS.

BIG HANDICAP FOR TO-DAY.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

First Race—Mackerel, Gremse, Bill Heron. Second Race—Haughty, Barnsdale, Algon. Third Race—Mike Sutton, Polly Prim, Fleming. Fourth Race—Old Honey, Wing T. Alencon. Fifth Race—R. C. Rann, Honest, Albert Star. Sixth Race—Warner Griswell, Minnehaha, Anna Ruskin. Two Best Bets—Haughty and R. C. Rann.

RAIN, which fell for an hour previous to the running of the first race, had the effect of keeping down the attendance somewhat at Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon, but on account of the weather conditions the crowd was surprisingly large. Most of the rain fell in the city and there was very little of it at the Downs. As a matter of fact the track was not at all injured by the shower, as the time in the various races shows.

The feature of the card was a steeplechase handicap over the short course. This was won by Kildoe, the favorite, which clipped two and one-fifth seconds from the track record in securing his victory. He beat Naran, the well-played second choice in 5:30.3, the best previous record being held by Magic, which ran the same distance in 5:33.4.

Miss Alert won the third race at six furlongs. In this event there was a heavy plunge on La Veta. It is claimed that a large amount of money was wagered on this filly in parlors throughout the country and some of it found its way back into the local ring before the filly went to the post. La Veta did not finish inside the money. Miss Alert, defeating Moriboy and Nat B. There were sixteen starters in the fifth race, which was for two-year-olds filled at four and one-half furlongs, and Bosom Friend, E. R. Bradley's filly, won at a long price. Lettice, Lady Irene and others were well supported.

The feature of the card for this afternoon in the Louisville Handicap was certain to face the barrier. The best race horses at the track will take part in this event and a fine contest should be the result.

Light Note's Easy Victory.

Light Note easily won the first race from Dr. Sprull and Scalplock. The son of Lamplighter was much the best of his company, but he had been practically overlooked in the speculation. Devout was the public choice, but the running of the race found him with the also rans. Airship went to the front at the rise of the barrier and showed the way to the back stretch, where Light Note took command and drew away from his field, winning easily by five lengths. The latter was off poorly and had to come from a rear position. Dr. Sprull was well placed throughout the journey and easily secured the place and a half in front of Scalplock, who had no contenders for third place.

And Again I Delivered the Goods.

Miss Alert, One Best Bet, 5-2 Won

Kildoe 2-1 Won

15-1 Shot Sure Winner To-day

We will set in the works on one that has been worked under cover at Douglas Park. His last work was one mile in 1:41 flat. Three watches alone caught this phenomenal trial. The owner is a well-known doctor and friend of mine, and from the easy manner in which it was done I have no hesitancy in saying that it is the biggest cinch I have been able to hand out this season.

Better Than My Last Sleeper

Demo, which won at the juicy price of 20 to 1 on May 8. Fewer people are next to this one, so we should get at least 15 to 1 when the knights of the rubber and chalk put up the prices.

Terms $1.00 Daily; $5.00 Weekly.

Light Note raced Airship and Dr. Sprull into defeat, drew away in the run home and won in a canter. Dr. Sprull hung on gamely and had no contention for second place. Scalplock, how to jump, came to the front at the rise of the barrier and finished strong. Airship has all the early speed, but found the distance too far. Harmakis will improve. Devout had a scant chance after the start.

2065—SECOND RACE—Seven furlongs, purse $200, for three-year-olds and upward; selling. Start fair. Won easily, place easily. Winner, J. R. Wainwright. Value to owner, $500. Fractional time, 1:24.3, 4:30.3, 1:24.3, 1:24.3-5.

Kildoe won the steeplechase handicap over the short course. This was won by Kildoe, the favorite, which clipped two and one-fifth seconds from the track record in securing his victory. He beat Naran, the well-played second choice in 5:30.3, the best previous record being held by Magic, which ran the same distance in 5:33.4.

Miss Alert won the third race at six furlongs. In this event there was a heavy plunge on La Veta. It is claimed that a large amount of money was wagered on this filly in parlors throughout the country and some of it found its way back into the local ring before the filly went to the post. La Veta did not finish inside the money. Miss Alert, defeating Moriboy and Nat B. There were sixteen starters in the fifth race, which was for two-year-olds filled at four and one-half furlongs, and Bosom Friend, E. R. Bradley's filly, won at a long price. Lettice, Lady Irene and others were well supported.

The feature of the card for this afternoon in the Louisville Handicap was certain to face the barrier. The best race horses at the track will take part in this event and a fine contest should be the result.

Bosom Friend All the Way.

Fifteen young missies faced the starter in the fifth race, a selling affair at four and one-half furlongs. The field was at the post six minutes before Starter Holtman could get them lined up properly, and it was only a fair start that they were sent away on their journey. The winner, Bosom Friend, E. R. Bradley's filly, won at a long price. Lettice, Lady Irene and others were well supported.

The feature of the card for this afternoon in the Louisville Handicap was certain to face the barrier. The best race horses at the track will take part in this event and a fine contest should be the result.

Light Note's Easy Victory.

Light Note easily won the first race from Dr. Sprull and Scalplock. The son of Lamplighter was much the best of his company, but he had been practically overlooked in the speculation. Devout was the public choice, but the running of the race found him with the also rans. Airship went to the front at the rise of the barrier and showed the way to the back stretch, where Light Note took command and drew away from his field, winning easily by five lengths. The latter was off poorly and had to come from a rear position. Dr. Sprull was well placed throughout the journey and easily

DATE IN AUGUST

Likely To Be Chosen For Louisville Day.

JULY TOO EARLY FOR CELEBRATION AT EXPOSITION.

STATE GUARD WANTED THERE AT SAME TIME.

IN HANDS OF COMMITTEES.

It is probable that Louisville day at the Jamestown Exposition will be fixed for some time in August. It was the consensus of opinion of those who attended the meeting at the Commercial Club rooms yesterday afternoon, as representatives of different commercial and fraternal organizations, the Fiscal Court and the City Administration, that July 5, which date was originally proposed, would be too early and that a larger attendance from Louisville could be secured on some date in August. Another reason for not selecting that date and for leaving the matter temporarily open was that it is not certain when the First Kentucky Regiment will go to Jamestown, and it is desired to have the Louisville day fall during the visit of the soldiers to the exposition.

The meeting was called to order by Fred Levy, who while president of the Commercial Club had received a letter from Mayor Barth inclosing a communication from the chairman of the Board of Governors of the Jamestown Exposition asking that Louisville have a day at the exposition and celebrate it. Mr. Barth asked Mr. Levy to form a committee of the different commercial organizations for the purpose of making a day. R. E. Hughes was elected permanent chairman of the committee and John D. Wakefield permanent secretary.

All members of the committee present expressed themselves as to the date and proper celebration of the event. July 5 had been suggested, as the Kentucky day, and it was felt that the celebration events would be elaborate during the week in which the Independence day falls. A majority of the committee felt, however, that a better crowd could be arranged for at some date in August. Action was deferred, however, until a later date pending a conference with Col. W. B. Haldeman, the First Kentucky Regiment in this connection the committee adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, it is the sense of this meeting, that the celebration of Kentucky day and Louisville day at the Jamestown Exposition could be made more profitable and more creditable affairs, not only to the State, but to the city of Louisville, by the presence of the State's splendid military organizations, the First, Second and Third Regiments, the committee

SMALL ETLY BOY

Soon Will Be Adopted By His Aunt.

TURNED OVER TO JUVENILE COURT BY MR. HUFFINES.

HAD BEEN WITH THEM SINCE HIS MOTHER'S DEATH.

TOWBOATMAN GIVEN $950.

Arrangements were made in the Juvenile Court yesterday whereby George Etly, the son of John B. Etly, charged with wife murder, will be adopted by Mrs. George P. Perkins, the dead woman's sister. Since the mother was killed, several months ago, the child has been in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Huffines, of 325 Lyons avenue.

Upon the night of the murder Mrs. Huffines, who was at that time a neighbor of the Etlys on Floyd street, was called in by John Etly and asked to take care of the baby, then but eleven months of age, until after the funeral. She consented to do so and later the whereabouts of the child was lost sight of by the Etly relatives, but the child was finally found as the result of newspaper publications.

Mr. Huffines informed Judge Wilson yesterday in the Juvenile Court that he was assured at first that Etly's relatives would contribute to the baby's support, but that since then only $18 had been forthcoming to this end. He stated that while he and his wife had become very much attached to the child he could not afford to keep him and he had become very much toward meeting the expenses incident.

Mrs. Perkins then volunteered to take charge of the child and Judge Wilson turned him over to her. She will shortly file a petition in order to legally adopt him. Before the case was taken in the Juvenile Court Etly was served with due notice of the proceedings in the court. His trial is set for June 17. The Etly child was seriously ill at the time of his mother's death, but has now fully recovered his health.

Reardon Admitted To Bond.

Robert L. Page, County Attorney, yesterday agreed to release Jefferson Reardon, charged with the murder of Joseph Snawder near Gretna, in the county, on bond of $500. His preliminary examination was held yesterday in the county court.

Court Paragraphs.

FOR MASS CONVENTIONS

REPUBLICAN LOCAL COMMITTEE WILL ISSUE CALL.

Thirteen To Be Ordered In Fifth Congressional District On Or About First of June.

The Republican City and County Committee will issue a call for thirteen mass-conventions in the Fifth congressional district about June 1. The call has been prepared and was submitted to the committee at its meeting Wednesday night and approved. This call is simply for a separate one for the county proper. In all counties except Boyd, Kenton, Campbell and Boone county mass-conventions will be held. The time is 1:30 o'clock, Standard time.

The members of the committee said that the matter of selecting a city Republican ticket to be voted for in the next November election did not come up at the meeting Wednesday night, for the reason that the committee had been received from the Court of Appeals, and in fact, no order from the State Central Committee. The call that will be issued June 1 is in accordance with the instructions of the State Central Committee.

OF HIS OWN ACCORD

WAYWARD BOY AGREES HE WILL GO TO SCHOOL.

Chose Quickly When Judge Wilson Told Him About Mr. Caldwell.

"Which school is it?" asked Judge Wilson of a young boy who had been brought before him yesterday in the Juvenile Court.

The idea of a boy with a head shaped like yours saying he's not able to learn. I'll let you choose between the public school and the Industrial School. You have heard about the little birds that can sing and won't sing, but should be made to sing. Well, there's a Mr. Caldwell, at the Industrial School, whose long suit is making birds sing. If you want to go and sing a while with him say the word; if you don't you'll have to stay at school where your mother's going. The question was that he thought he would attend school with promptness and regularity hereafter. The small child, a "train hopper" the tallest one hardly more than able to stand on the ground and reach a ladder, were lectured by Judge Wilson on the danger of their favorite amusement. Their faces were drawn with their mouths wide open as they listened to the words of the judge. He said it was a long time before the vision which Judge Wilson summoned before their minds will fade away and they will go back to riding on freight trains.

HIS DECISION TO-DAY.

ALLEGED GAMBLERS' CASE TAKEN UNDER SUBMISSION.

Charles Ray, P. S. Chinn and Wm. Stivers Arrested In Raid Made On Tuesday Night.

Charles Ray, P. S. Chinn and William Stivers, all three charged with setting up and running a game of chance, were presented in the Police Court yesterday morning, and were defended by James P. Edwards, who left the Police Court bench to act as attorney for the defendants. Attorney Delos Rogers sat as Special Judge in the case, and after hearing the statements of the defendants Otto and William and that of Corp. Camozzi, took the case under advisement, promising to give his decision this morning.

Ray, Chinn and Stivers were arrested after a raid on rooms at the Eckert hotel Tuesday night. Frank Eckert, the hotel proprietor, was also arrested on a charge of allowing a game of chance to be operated on his premises. He was presented in court yesterday morning, and Special Judge Rogers will announce the decision in his case to-day.

None of the defendants were placed on the stand yesterday, and as soon as the statements of the witnesses were heard Judge Edwards moved that the defendants be dismissed. After the case was argued the Special Judge announced that he would think the evidence over before rendering his decision.

ANCIENT HIBERNIANS TO CELEBRATE ON AUGUST 30.

This year the annual celebration of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held Saturday, August 30, at Ninaweb Park. The celebration will be held on Thursday night. The celebration will be in the nature of a field day. Besides the regular amusements of the park there is to be a baseball game in the morning between a team composed of the members of the order of this city and one made up of members of Sheridan Division, No. 1, Chicago, Ill. The Chicago team will be accompanied by a large delegation of rooters.

In addition to the baseball game there will be running races, a tug-of-war, putting the shot and other athletic events. These contests will take place in the morning, and in the afternoon there will be an address by the Hon. Matt O'Doherty. This address in charge intends to make this the largest picnic ever held by the order in the history of the city. The proceeds will be used in entertaining the members of the Grand Convention, which will be held in this city next year.

CLEAN MACHINERY.

Every man who knows anything about it will tell you that machinery must be kept clean if the best work is expected from it. Exactly the same is true of the machinery of the body, which can do its work properly only when kept clear of clogging accumulations.

The bodily machinery of the human being is clogged when there is constipation, and this can be permanently cured and prevented from becoming chronic only by restoring the strength of weakened muscles. Experienced medical men find that this can best be done by the use, until there is free movement of the bowels, of the powerful doses, at bedtime and before each meal, of a preparation of 1/4 oz. of Liquid Extract of Senna, 1/2 oz. Rochelle Salts, 1 oz. Agar-Sagras, 30 grains Bicarbonate of Soda, 1/2 oz. water and 1 1/2 oz. Glycerine. The ingredients are all entirely harmless and any good druggist can prepare the medicine.

Selecting a Stove Very Important.

In selecting a gas range, great care should be used to get the best, as with proper use it will last a lifetime. There are many ranges now on the market, but we wish to call special attention to our "New Range" which has many desirable features not found on any other stove. You would like any kind of this stove, but if you had used all the different kinds, you would prefer a "New Range." Many ranges are made to meet the demands of every kitchen. It is planned for convenience, the oven being the right size and height for baking. The top burners can be lifted out, leaving the flat of the stove clear of obstruction for cleaning. The burners are scientifically constructed and will give the greatest amount of heat for gas consumed, and are consequently economical to use. Only the very best quality of workmanship and materials enter into its construction. All parts are made to last, and the stove is made especially strong, making the stove very durable.
